-- Inaugural Service to Tampa and Charleston the First of Seven New Routes --

Norfolk, VA (June 10, 2021) – Breeze Airways, the new “Seriously Nice” U.S. carrier from JetBlue founder David Neeleman, today launches service from Norfolk, VA, inaugurating flights to both Tampa, FL, and Charleston, SC. The new routes are the first of seven to be introduced in the coming weeks, all but one of which was previously not served.

Over the next two months, Breeze will begin service to:

- Charleston, SC (starting June 10);
- Tampa, FL (June 10);
- New Orleans, LA (July 15);
- Columbus, OH (July 22);
- Hartford, CT (July 22);
- Pittsburgh, PA (July 22); and
- Providence, RI. (July 29).

Flights are now on sale at www.flybreeze.com and the Breeze app, starting at just $39* one way.

“Aviation has long been ingrained in the Hampton Roads economy, and the arrival of Breeze Airways is another sign of this region’s growing position as a commercial flight hub,” said Virginia Governor Ralph Northam. “The post-pandemic world will offer increasing opportunities for travel and tourism, and the addition of this new low-cost carrier at Norfolk International Airport will be a catalyst for economic growth, welcoming visitors to our Commonwealth with convenient, nonstop service to often overlooked markets. We are honored that Breeze Airways has selected Virginia as one of its first domestic locations and look forward to building a strong and successful partnership with the company.”

“We couldn’t be more excited to start our new service from Norfolk today,” said Trent Porter, Breeze’s Chief Financial Officer. “These seven new routes are just the beginning. There are so many city pairs needing nonstop service around the country, we have a further 100 cities under consideration. In by-passing hubs for nonstop flights, Breeze will get you there in half the time, but also for half the price!”
