MIRAMAR, Fla., Oct. 4, 2022 – Spirit Airlines' (NYSE: SAVE) bright yellow planes are arriving as the new fleet on the ramp at Norfolk International Airport (ORF). The airline will offer travelers in southeast Virginia affordable, daily flights to soak up the Florida sun in Fort Lauderdale (FLL) and Orlando (MCO) starting in March 2023.

“It’s great to bring More Go to Norfolk with daily, nonstop flights to a fun pair of locations in Florida, with exciting options for connections to Latin America and the Caribbean,” said Bobby Schroeter, Senior Vice President and Chief Marketing Officer at Spirit Airlines. “Our Norfolk Guests will love our Signature Service combined with our affordable fares, and our Florida Guests will enjoy the historical attractions, museums and festivals that Coastal Virginia has to offer.”

Spirit Airlines Routes at Norfolk (ORF)

Destination:	Flights Available:	Launch Date:
Fort Lauderdale (FLL)	Daily	March 8, 2023
Orlando (MCO)	Daily	March 8, 2023

Spirit is making air travel to South Florida especially convenient by offering the only daily, nonstop service from Norfolk to Fort Lauderdale. Guests traveling to Orlando can connect to Puerto Rico or a variety of international destinations in the Caribbean and Latin America. Norfolk will be the second Virginia airport Spirit serves, adding to its operations in Richmond (RIC) that started in 2018.

“Spirit Airlines’ decision to enter southeastern Virginia via Norfolk International Airport is a sign of confidence in our region,” said Mark Perryman, Norfolk Airport Authority President and Chief Executive Officer. “Passenger demand hit all-time records this summer and 2022 is on a path to be the highest year in the airport’s 84-year history. Spirit’s new service from Norfolk to Orlando and Fort Lauderdale, two of our largest markets, will be very well received within the community and we anticipate robust growth.”

Spirit's Elevated Guest Experience
